Home Canning Clinic To Be Held Monday

A free clinic on home canning will be conducted at the Lounge in the Community Building here, at 8 o'clock this Monday, July 17, under the sponsorship of the Marin City Women's Club, P-TA and VICS in cooperation with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and Standard of California.

Featuring Miss Bernice Redington, well known home economist and canning expert, the clinic will stress approved methods of home canning, as well as prevention of food spoilage and food poisoning.

Housewives of this area have been extended a most cordial invitation to attend the clinic by Mrs. Earl James, president of the VICS, who said yesterday:

"We are most eager to have the women of this community avail themselves of this signal opportunity of securing authentic information. Miss Redington has a reputation for taking scientific information and putting it into the homemaker's language. This plus her wit and humor should make this an enjoyable as well as educational evening. Our club deems it a privilege to sponsor this event and extends a hearty invitation to both men and women to attend."

Miss Redington's talk and demonstration will be informal and opportunity will be given for a question and answer period.

Harvest Camp For Girls Offered Here

An opportunity for a month in the country helping to harvest the nation's food crop this summer, is being offered Marin City girls.

Girls 15 years of age or older may register next Monday July 17, from 2 to 5 p.m., in the Marin City USO Travelers' Aid Cottage.

Taking the enrollments will be Miss Ruth Harrington, Y. W. C. A. girls' harvest camp director and a former assistant counsellor at Marinship.

The harvest camp is located at Geyserville, 28 miles north of Santa Rosa. The camp is located near prune and pear orchards which the girls will harvest.

OPENS AUG. 3

The camp will open August 3 and continue to September 5, with the girls working eight hours daily, six days a week.

The wage is the going agricultural scale, 25 cents per lug.

Expenses at the camp are approximately $1.60 per day. Payable in advance are the registration fee, $1, and the round trip transportation fare.

Girls 14 years of age may also register, and will be enrolled for camp work if the quota is not filled by the older age group.

FUN, TOO!

Miss Harrington emphasizes that the camp is not all work and no play.

Recreational facilities will be provided regularly for the girls. There will be swimming at Russian River, crafts, folk dancing and other sports —all under the leadership of trained counsellors.

At the camp there will be a full time nurse to watch after the health of the girls, and there will be two doctors on call from the nearby town.

HEALTH PROVISIONS

Before the registrations are accepted, each girl must have a health examination form filled out. The form will be presented to the girls by Miss Harrington when they come to register Monday. The health examination will be given free of charge at the Medical Center to members of CPS cooperative health insurance plan here.

The camp is managed by the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of California, and the Y.W.C.A. Every consideration for the girls' health and well being is being arranged.

PAID WEEKLY

The girls will be paid by the week, and the money handled by the camp bookkeeper, who will deduct the week's expenses and leave the balance for the girls to draw upon.

As washing but no ironing facilities will be available, the girls are requested to bring along cotton and seersucker shirts and jeans.

"Shipyard Work Load Will Increase," Say Maritime Officials

Admiral Howard L. Vickery, head of all Maratime Commission shipyards, and Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the U. S. Maritime Commission, this week gave emphasis to the present Marinship drive for 4065 additional workers within the next two months.

"An epidemic of irresponsible rumors seems to have invaded most of the major shipyards of the United States," Admiral Land said. "The rumor is to the effect that the Maritime Commission's construction program is about to be cut back. The persistence of such rumors suggests to me that the source might be interested in sabotaging the shipbuilding program at the most crucial point in the war by seeking to drive skilled workmen from the shipyards to look for employment elsewhere."

"Let me say emphatically," Admiral Land continued, "that the work load in those shipyards is to be INCREASED very shortly and not decreased or cut back."

Admiral Land issued a plea for all shipyard workers to stay on their vital jobs. "I am asking — I am urging — that every man and woman in these yards turn a deaf ear to those fakers who would mislead you," he said, "and stay in there and pitch as you have done so handsomely in the past."

Admiral Victory told Marinship workers that their toughest job remains to be done during the coming 12 months. He declared that he had committed Marinship for delivery of four ships in July, and for other ships on schedule right through June of 1945.

"We are 50 tanker sailings short for December," Admiral Vickery said. "That is why I have not given Marinship repair work. We need more tankers."

Meanwhile Marinship workers were being asked to aid in the recruiting of more than 4000 new workers in all crafts by the last of August. Both journeymen and helpers are needed. Marin City residents were asked to help secure these additional workers for the construction of greatly needed tankers.

Church Space Planned for All Groups

A building devoted entirely to religious activities for all denominations may soon be a reality in Marin City, if plans of a committee headed by Mrs. Walter Del Tredici go through. Other committee members are Mrs. W. C. Billingsley and Mrs. G. R. Hobson. The committee recently secured more than 1300 signatures on a petition which asked for a separate building for church services.

Members of the committee appeared before the Marin County Housing Commission this week and, according to Mrs. Del Tredici, secured their tacit approval for use of the gray school building behind the fire station for church use.

Mrs. Del Tredici apepared before the Marin City Council at its regular meeting last Sunday and discussed with members of that body plans of the committee. The matter was referred to the council's house committee for further action.

A meeting of the house committee on Wednesday night brought the project further along by a decision reached to call a meeting of all church groups in the community to make definite plans for the project. Estimates of the number of such church groups in Marin City vary from 10 to 25. Under the church committee's plans each of the groups would hold separate services in the proposed church building.

Funds for renovation of the old school building to suit church purposes would be raised by the committee from the community, Mrs. Del Tredici said. Allocation of space in the building will be handled by a committee composed of representatives of all of the church groups, she stated.

Not affected nor involved in plans of the committee is the present Marin City Community Church, which operates here under the auspices of the California Church Council and whose pastor, Dr. Norman W. Pendleton, has held regular Sunday services here for more than two years.

Bond Sales Climb in Marin City

Marin City is within $3000 of its quota for the Fifth War Loan Drive, with an indefinite extension period being granted in the county, this week announces Al Babcock, local chairman of the campaign.

Late this week, bond sales were $19,106 of the total quota of $22,525.

When citizens of Marin City were charged prices above OPA ceilings at the local market, the improvement committee of the Marin City Council spearheaded court proceedings against the operator. Shown above are Judge Paul Helmore taking violation charges from residents Al Barden, Mike Smith and Mrs. Bertha Cleveland. Dan Lounsbury, Dale Seybold and Mrs. Emmett Lounsbury also filed complaints. The case was tried and won in January, with The Marin Citizen serving as the spokesman of the people throughout the proceedings.

Rent Raise Answer Protested by City Council

Indignant with what many members termed "a brush off", the Marin City Council last Sunday protested a letter received from Eugene Tucker, acting management director, Federal Public Housing Authority.

The letter attempted an explanation of the recent $1.50 rent raise in the A apartments. It came in response to a request from the council's public affairs committee that the regional office of the Federal Public Housing Authority send someone to the council meeting to explain the reasons for the rent increase.

Couched in vague terms and explaining nothing, the letter from Tucker was rejected by the council. Several council members termed the letter "an insult to the intelligence of people seeking an honest answer to an honest question." The council again asked for an explanation of the rent raise and expressed their hope that they would receive an intelligent reply.

More heat was asked for the apartments by Milton Percy. The apartments are frigid, Percy said, and something should be done about it. His request was turned over to the council's improvement committee for action.

W. C. Bingsley, chairman of the house committee, reported that lights had been secured for the court yard of the Community Center two days after they had been requested, thereby setting a record for quickness.

A request was made for the transferral of two unused bus stops from the flats to the hills, so that those waiting for the bus in the cold and fog of the hilltops might have some protection. This request was placed in the hands of the maintenance department for action.

The Marin City Honor Roll, a plaque dedicated to the servicemen and women from this town, was erected by The Marin Citizen. With more than 1000 names inscribed, the Honor Roll was unveiled here on June 4 with dignitaries present from the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marines, and Merchant Marines. Mrs. Nels Johnson, Marin City Gold Star mother, unveiled the plaque. Feature of the ceremony was the Fort Mason Army Band.

M. L. Mason, Marin City resident, Marinship worker and long-time Idaho farmer, is shown above cultivating his plot in Skyline Gardens. Marin City and Marinship are in the background. Mason is a member of the committee which supervises Skyline Garden's 10 acres of cooperative farm land. The Victory Garden program, which has been one of Marin City's most successful activities, has been consistently promoted in the columns of The Marin Citizen.

Rombke New Mayor of Teener Group

By ALICE JAMES

The election for the Teener Council was held on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week. Four members were nominated; of these three were elected to serve on the council for six months. They are Marvin Gardiner, Ronald Conlon, and Robert Greenwood.

At the regular council meeting held Tuesday evening, Willie Rombke was elected Mayor of the Teener organization. The officers now are: Mayor, Willie Rombke; secretary, Lynn Draper; treasurer, Alice James. The other members of the council are Konrad Knudsen, Bob Clarke, Ozell Pennywell, Herbert Halloway, Marvin Gardiner, Bob Greenwood and Ronnie Conlon.

At the last two dances Courtesy Cards have been given to those who have made application. These cards must be presented at the door in order to be admitted to the dance that evening. Guest cards will soon be given to those who are not residents of Marin City but who attend the dances as guests of Teener members.

July dues must be paid by the 24th of July. Starting on Monday, July 24, Teeners will not be admitted to the "399" Club unless their dues are paid. The dues of 25 cents per month should be paid to the treasurer, Alice James.

New Patrons of Teener Group Enjoy Selves

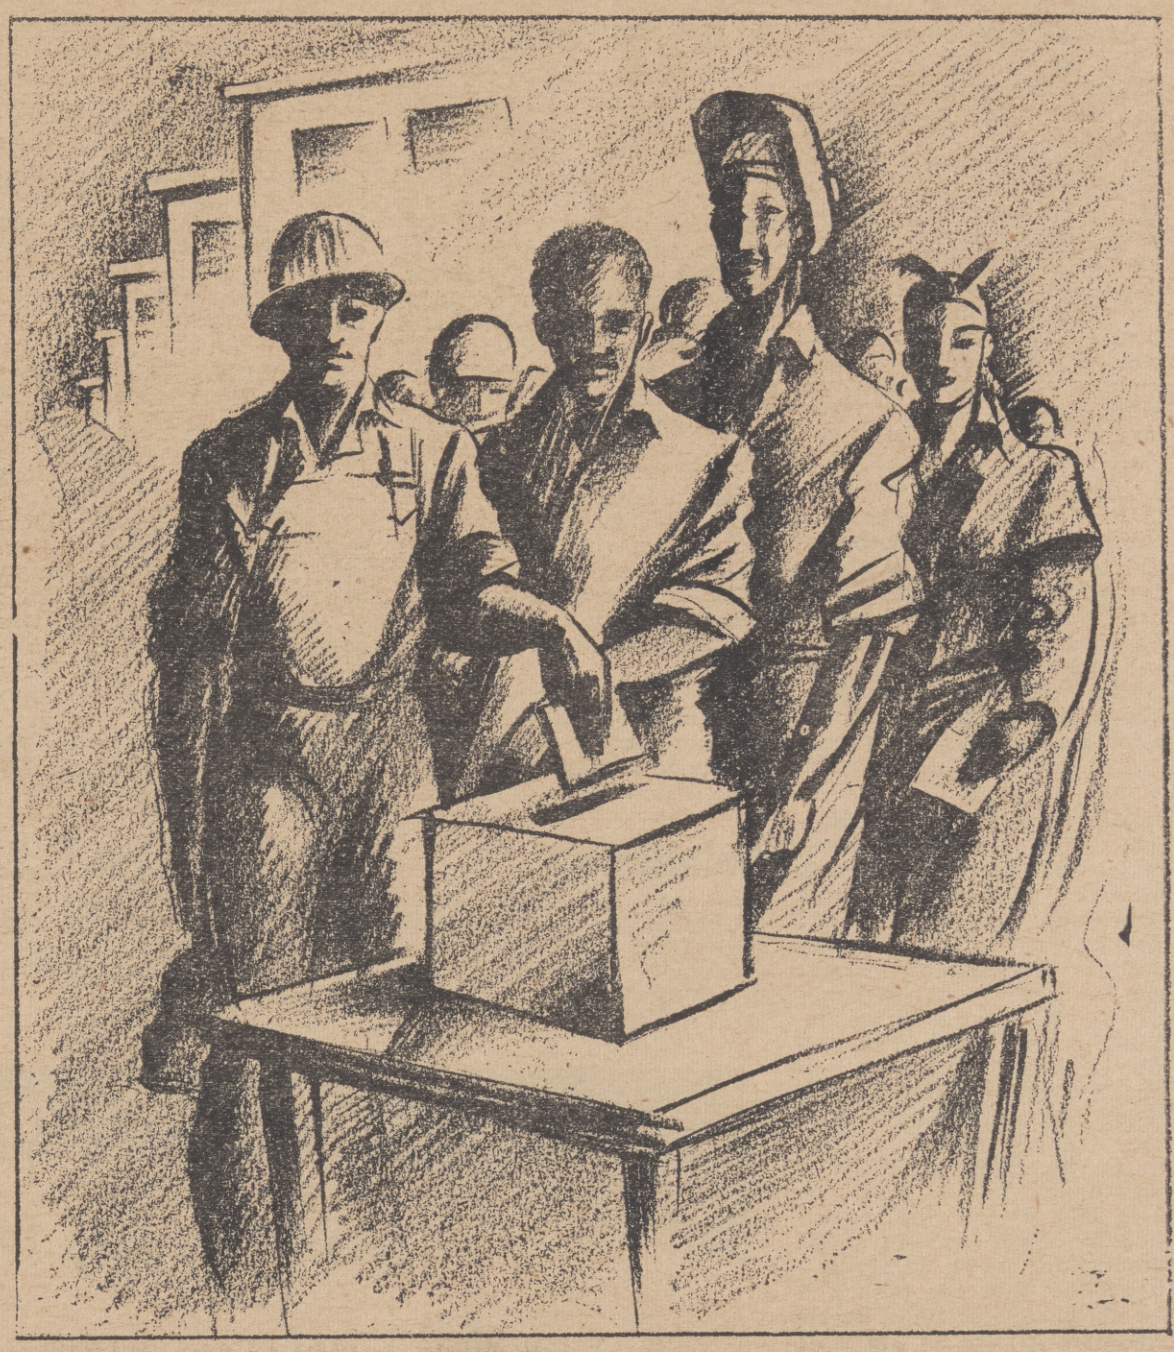
Mr. and Mrs. R. Greenwood have volunteered their services as host and hostess at the Teeners Club, "399." They arrived on Tuesday evening laden with sandwiches for the snack bar. Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood are the mother and father of Bob, the Junior Herald's new editor.

"Why, these are nice kids," Mrs. Greenwood commented. "And it was really pleasant . . . not a bit hard . . . we enjoyed it."

Other local volunteer hosts and hostesses include Mrs. Jess Draper and Mr. and Mrs. Earl James. Mrs. James is acting chairman of the hostess committee and is combing the city for new volunteers.

Mothers and dads of teenagers are urged to help the young people in this capacity. Interested persons should contact Mrs. James or Miss Ethel Johnson at the project services office behind the Community Building.

The Democratic Way



With 1500 families in a new community, one of Marin City's most vital projects during the past year has been registering these new residents to vote. During the registration period, "The Marin Citizen" weekly carried columns and stories urging local people to register before the primary and school board elections. At the end of the campaign, more than 1100 Marin City people were registered to vote here. The town's own democratically-elected body, the Marin City Council, has also received consistent support from its paper in publicizing city elections.

Burning Hot Plate Sets Kitchen Afire

A kitchen fire, causing approximately $300 damage, was started last Tuesday night when swing-shifters Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams went off to work leaving the hot plate burning in their apartment, B7-125.

The electric plate burned through the drainboard and dropped into the cupboard below, setting the walls and sink board on fire.

A call for the fire department was sent in by neighbors at 9 p.m. Delay reaching the fire was caused when the neighbor called the Sausalito Fire Department instead of Marin City, and gave the wrong apartment number.

Fire Chief Rolf Bremer again reminds residents to call the local department for fires and to be sure of the correct address.

Members of the Volunteer Firemen who responded to the alarm were Bill Coffee, Bud Cooper, Tom Roberts and Dick Vanderwilt.

All States Lose Junior League Game

By DAN ALLEN

San Rafael Junior League team continued its winning ways with a 14 to 4 win over the Marin City All States last Sunday.

Lynn Roath started his first game for the Juniors and allowed 9 hits. The support of his teammates in the field was somewhat erartic, although the team hitting did improve over the past to allow them to score 4 runs and 6 hits, two by Connie Knudson. McAuelly hit a home run in the 8th.

Boufylio starred for San Rafael with 4 for 6.

Livestock and Poultry—Pork still appears most plentiful meat in western markets. In general, choice beef cuts are scarce. Veal is scarce in some markets. Chicken supplies appear ample to meet demand in most areas and a few areas report slow demand.

Eggs—Eggs continue in good supply in most areas of the west, with smaller sizes and undergrades most plentiful. The storage problem has been temporarily solved. June 10th when there were 25 million dozen eggs for which no storage was available, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones appealed to housewives to take home an extra dozen. Judge Jones reported June 24 that the help of housewives and the trade has made it possible to save all these eggs that were in danger of spoilage and that our emergency egg storage problem has been solved.

Butter and Cheese — About the same amount of butter is forecast for civilians during July and August, on the basis of WFA's butter set-aside for July of 45 per cent (5 per cent less than June's) and 30 per cent for August. On Cheddar cheese, the 60 per cent set-aside for July and August will give civilians a little more than they've had in the past year.

Cocoa and Chocolate—From June through August, the supply of cocoa and chocolate supplies will be somewhat less than for the first half of this year because of greater military requirements and lack of shipping space from certain producing areas, and a further reduction for the last three months of this year is expected.

More Fat for Soap — WFA has reduced the amount of resin used as an extender in the manufacture of soap. More fat is now available for soap making. Housewives of America who have turned in waste fat can take considerable credit for this fact.

Chicken This Winter — In 1943, over three and a half billion pounds of dressed chicken were eaten, a per capita consumption of 28.1 pounds. The average for the 1935-39 period was only 17.9 pounds. The chicken supply per capita for civilians this year is about 15 per cent smaller. But a large part of the chickens will be coming to market at the same time—in the July to September period. Short feeding supplies and egg marketing difficulties are causing many farmers to cull flocks more closely.

Therefore, people who live in areas where chickens are plentiful will find its economical to can or freeze a supply for use next winter when chickens will not be so plentiful. Families who have cold storage locker space usually prefer to freeze frying and roasting chickens, and to can the older, less tender stewing fowl. Frozen poultry will keep for a year or longer.

Milk Prospects — Lee Marshall, WFA director of distribution says that war demands for dairy products will continue high. In another six weeks, when milk production declines considerably, milk and ice cream quotas probably will be tightened. During the flush season, it has been possible to relax them he explains, because manufacturing plants would get all the milk they could handle without much channeling by WFA. It was done also, he states, to help take care of the exceptionally sharp peak in milk production and to nullify any possibility that the milk and ice cream quotas could be responsible for any of the milk dumping which was bound to occur. "No one can truthfully say," he emphasizes, "that he would have been able to sell his milk if the WFA had not had a milk conservation program. On the contrary, our market agents have helped to save thousands of gallons of milk which might otherwise have gone down the drain."

Bargain Day At Garden Center Soon

It's bargain day at the Garden Center next Monday, July 17, announce its proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson.

On that day there will be a 10 per cent discount on all vegetable and flower plants.

Eight crates of pansy plants, one of the center's most popular items, has just arrived and are ready for sale.

There is a complete line of all the other plants which Marin City people are seeking for their gardens.

In addition, Richardson has raised a large crop of green onions which are ready for eating. These will be sold for 15 cents per dozen.

As late gardeners are now planting, there is a constant call for tools which the center rents.

The Richardsons urge tool renters to return the implements promptly so everyone will have a chance to prepare garden soil.

Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Earl James celebrated their 31st wedding anniversary last Wednesday evening by attending a meeting of the Marin City Council house committee.

Strictly Personal . . .

By PEGGY BILLINGSLEY

Mrs. Harold Shaw and her daughter, Toni Rae, returned to Marin City after a month's visit with relatives in Duluth, Minn. Miss Lois Holquist, a cousin, returned with her. Miss Holquist has been employed at Marinship and was in Duluth on vacation. Mrs. Shaw's husband is overseas. She is making her home with her parents, the Al Babcocks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Dinsmore and son, Glenn, are spending a week on the Russian River.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fitch and son, Everett, Jr., have returned to their former home near Prescott, Arizona to live. Mrs. Fitch is well known in Marin City for her activities in community affairs. She was chairman of the civilian defense group in Marin City which served at the Sausalito Servicemen's Club, was hostess at the Teener Club, and also assisted with The Marin Citizen circulation.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walenta are leaving for a two weeks trip through the Redwoods. They will visit with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Erickson, former Marin City residents, at Fort Bragg for a few days.

Mrs. J. R. Kahrt was in Fresno last week to visit her mother, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shane left Marin City last week for Mill Valley where they have purchased a new home.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. White and two daughters are moving to Richmond where they have bought a home, and Mr. White has purchased his own insurance business. Mrs. White will be greatly missed in the community where she has devoted many hours doing home nursing and caring for small children.

Revival Need Is Topic at Christ Church

"Why Marin City Needs a Revival" is the evening sermon topic of the Church of Christ at House 489, by Dale A. Williamson, evangelist.

There is Bible School at 10 a.m., and preaching and communion at 11 a.m. "God's Dwelling Place" will be the morning sermon.

Only $1 buys a ticket to the all-day show on July 16 at Marin City. Win $175 in War Bonds.

Women's Club Holds Open Forum Meeting

The Marin City Women's Club held an open forum discussion at their regular meeting, July 5, during which members made suggestions and criticisms.

Several ladies mentioned the Cookie Brigade as the activity they most enjoyed.

The subject most frequently brought out was: Why more women did not take part in Red Cross sewing and bandage rolling?

A station wagon picks up all volunteers for bandage rolling at the Community Building on Mondays and Wednesdays at 12:30, takes them to Sausalito and returns at about 3:15 p.m.

Even women who are not good at sewing can help with assembling and basting of articles for the Red Cross on Tuesday afternoons and evenings in the Marin City school building.

The club made a generous cash donation to the 1944 Annual Grape Festival.

After the business meeting and discussion, cake and coffee were served by Mrs. George Hinnenkamp and her committee.

Hot Dogs, Pop, Cake To Be on Sale Sunday

A food booth will be sponsored at the school building this Sunday by members of Marin City's Parent-Teacher Association.

The booth will open at 11 a.m. for the benefit of citizens attending the races being held as part of The Marin Citizen's all-day party.

Homemade cakes, coffee, hot dogs, and pop will be on sale.

The booth will remain open through the afternoon to feed the spectators attending the circular boxing ring matches.

Resident's Kin Dies in Action

Word reached Mrs. John Wilker this week that her nephew, Staff Sergeant Alan Dill, was killed in action over France.

The message came to the boy's mother from the War Department which stated that the news came through the Red Cross from German sources.

Sergeant Dill was gunner in a Flying Fortress on a mission over France before the invasion.

Witnesses of his plane report that 10 parachutes opened up in descent from the flaming Fortress, but no other word came through until the German release.

Shopping Bags, Baskets Fashionable

The string shopping bag is back in style, and all because of the paper crisis. Retail stores in the country will have only half their usual supply of wrapping paper and paper bags for May, June, July and August, a situation that threatens to bottleneck retail distribution of foodstuffs to civilians unless both the people behind the counters, and the consumers cooperate, says the War Food Administration.

The reason behind the bag shortage is simple, packaging of supplies for shipment to the fighting fronts takes tons of paper . . . clothing, equipment and food have to be packaged right or they may become damaged in transit.

Every piece of equipment must be individually wrapped in waterproof paper, usually in triple layers. War industries are needing more and more paper, too . . . for instance, it takes 25 tons of blueprint paper to make a battleship.

So, if the present allocations of paper bags and wrappings are to go around, the stores and the customers must cut down. Merchandise that comes already wrapped, such as bread, breakfast foods, soap powder, and carton eggs, should be taken "as is."

The use of shopping bags or baskets will save lots of paper . . . and of course, the best way for everyone to get more paper bags and wrappings is to collect more scrap paper.

Get your tickets to the July 16 all-day show from The Citizen carriers or from other volunteer salesmen.

Vics For Victory

The Volunteers in Community Service were congratulated this week by the Sausalito Chapter of the American Red Cross for their top production of servicemen's bags. Production Chairman Mrs. Paul Behrendt announced that the group has turned in 247 to date.

* * *

VICS responded as one woman at their meeting last Tuesday to Mrs. Marie Larson's appeal for help for an expectant mother whose husband is hospitalized. Mrs. Larson requested materials for baby clothes. Money was immediately voted from the treasury, and, in addition, several VICS extended an invitation to the woman to visit in their homes for sewing instruction.

* * *

Mrs. Philip Strombom, salvage chairman, submitted a report on grease collections at Tuesday's meeting. Marin City's donation from the local market was only $7.16. The over-all county total was $662.16. This money is used for recreation and local servicemen's clubs.

Mrs. Strombom reports she has placed a new grease jar, with a sign painted by her husband on it, and requests all women to turn in grease to the market, and deposit the payments in the grease jar.

* * *

Report on the Fifth War Loan Drive disclosed that VICS sold $1500 worth of bonds during the campaign.

* * *

Highlight of Tuesday's meeting was the sudden entrance of Mrs. John Grubb, who looked at Mrs. Marie Larson, USO director, and yelled "Emergency." Mrs. Larson rushed her to the car as Mrs. Grubb smiled goodbye to the ladies; every one wished her good luck and Mrs. Grubb was off to the city to have her baby.

Come to a day of fun and an evening of dancing—all for a $1 ticket to the July 16 all-day show.

School Curtain Project Needs Helpers Now

"Volunteers are needed now to sew curtains for the school room windows," this week announced Mrs. Louis Bright, P-TA president.

The sewing group meets every Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 4 at the school building. However, women who cannot stay during the afternoon, may pick up the curtains there for sewing at home.

Mrs. Bright said the curtains are cut and measured, and ready to be hemmed by anyone who has a sewing machine.

Training for Nursery Jobs Is Popular

Eight women, including two qualified nursery school teachers, responded this week to the story in The Marin Citien offering free nursery school training to local women, announces Mrs. Rose Peterson, director of the child care center.

The training course, which will begin here in the near future, will be instructed by a teacher from the University of California. Classes will be financed by Federal Lanham Act funds.

"The women who complete the course will be given employment preference on our staff," Director Peterson said.

Boyle Vacation

Clifton Boyle, school superintendent, plans to take his vacation the latter part of this month. Having just received the Lanham Act funds to run Marin City's war emergency school for the past year, Boyle will begin work soon on application for funds for the coming year.

USO Meeting

The Marin City USO Travelers' Aid Committee will meet this Thursday, July 20, at 8 p.m.

Nursery Can Accept More Children

The nursery school in the Community Building can still enroll a few more children this week, announces Director Rose Peterson.

Children to be accepted must be from two years to four years nine months. Fees are 50 cents per day for complete supervision including morning and afternoon snacks, a hot noon meal, and the fulltime care of a registered nurse.

The child care center for school-age children is enrolled to capacity and cannot accept more children now, Mrs. Peterson said. However, parents who wish their children entered should place their names on the waiting list, and they will be contacted as soon as there is an opening.

Children's Dance Class Enlarges

A meeting of mothers who sponsor the children's dance class has decided to open an additional class for children. This was made possible by a $67 surplus in their treasury.

Both classes meet on Saturday mornings as follows: 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m., for ages 8 to 12; 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. for ages 5 to 8.

The group meets at the auditorium in the Community Center, under the direction of Miss Ruby Asquith, prominent San Francisco ballerina and dance instructor. Instruction includes ballet and tap dancing.

Hedda Hopper: Looking at HOLLYWOOD

SOME stars, who ascended into the cinematic heavens years ago and whose ability is so solid they've remained at the top, are now taken for granted by most of us. We begin maligning them just because they've been around so long. We point up jokes at them, since their names are household institutions. We forget their achievements all too quickly and lie in wait for them to do a bad job so we can take pot shots.

I detest this symptom in many of Charles Laughton's admirers and enemies. Charles, Hollywood's paunchy genius of character portrayals, believes in "mixing his offerings." He won't take the easy way of establishing one great character and then playing it for the rest of his life in different settings and plots. He keeps searching for new stories, different characters, and putting all his energy into sincere portrayals of these.

Runs the Gamut

Remember "Sign of the Cross"? He played Nero, whose only whim was the death warrant of hundreds. Then there was "Henry the Eighth," the most dominating old roue who ever swept a camera off its feet, and "Ruggles of Red Gap," the gentlman who did the most inspiring rendition of the Gettysburg address ever heard since the Emancipator himself uttered the immortal words.

Whether Laughton will be a big hit in the "Canterville Ghost" or not remains to be seen, but I do know he's put his all into it, and he's honest enough to say so

Can't Be Stopped

Orson Wells hasn't been with us as long as Charley Laughton, but for a young man of 29 summers he's mad theatrical history. When he first arrived he was the butt of everybody's jokes but the critical part of the town stopped laughing after "Citizen Kane." He had something in that that received praise from all over except the minor portion of the press which might have been prejudiced against him. Orson discovered a whole new slough of actors and actresses which he brought out bodily from the Mercury theatre. "The Magnificent Ambersons," which he directed, was another film okehed by the critics.

What's in store for Orson nobody knows—not even himself. As an actor he's hurting his career by making radical speeches. You've got to decide whether you want to be in politics or be an actor.

Slow But Sure Climb

Walter Pidgeon's another who's been around a long time. He also went back to Broadway to find a second career, but there's no chance of shoving Walter around. He and Greer Garson have been teamed so often they've become our top male and female combination.

We don't have to pause over Bill Powell. He goes from one part to another with the greatest of ease, and not until he appeared in "Heavenly Body" did I ever believe that Powell could be unfunny.

Like Old Man River

We've called Bing Crosby everything except actor. Now, after running him down, critics have come out unanimously in proclaiming Bing not only a fine actor, but many even went so far as to say Bing could have done "Going My Way" without a song. For the well-known groaner, he could ask for no greater praise.

Boris Karloff is our greatest bogeyman. As Frankenstein's monster he rose from the grave more times than you have fingers on two hands. He didn't wait here for us to shove him around; he took himself to Broadway and started pushing people in "Arsenic and Old Lace," and made a fortune.

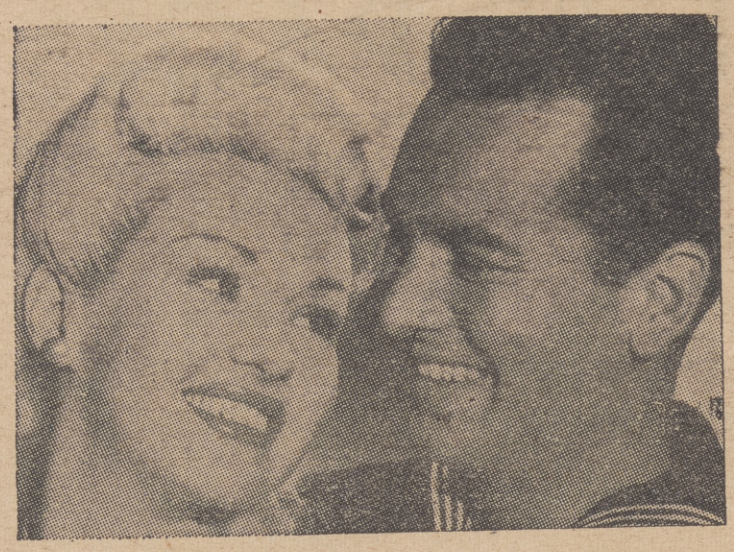
So don't mind it too much when we ourselves begin treating some of our stars as though they were footballs. Remember, if we didn't love them and think they had what it takes we'd ignore them completely, and what would happen then if they didn't see their names in print?

* * *

Star Under Observation

Smart woman that Rose Franken! Martha Scott, who will play in "Soldier's Wife," has been a house guest of Rose, and a lot of Martha's characteristics, which Rose has learned since they've been together so much, will be incorporated in the play. One of them is her habits in dressing and undressing. The first thing Martha puts on is a hat, and it's the last thing she takes off. Even after she's in her nightgown she has her hat on.

"Pin Up Girl"



John Harvey is romantically teamed with Betty Grable in 20th Century-Fox's dazzling technicolor musical, "Pin Up Girl." The girl in every serviceman's dreams has Harvey so bewildered he doesn't know his stenographer from his pin-up queen (they're BOTH Betty) n the film which opens Monday at the El Camino Theatre. Also featured in the brilliant cast are Martha Raye, Joe E. Brown, Eugene Pallette, the Skating Vanities and Charlie Spivak and His Orchestra.

Basso Concert In Variety Of Tongues

By KITTY OPPENHEIMER.

Ezio Pinza, famed basso of the Metropolitan Opera Company who will be heard here in recital Sunday afternoon, July 23, at 3 o'clock in Forest Meadows, Dominican College, San Rafael, stands today at the peak of his art.

In Pinza's voice there is an appeal that has singled it out among other great voices of the day for special recognition. Although tenors almost invariably are the heroes of opera and bassos are cast as villians, fathers, priests and so forth, Pinza personally likes being a "basso." He believes that the bass voice, if properly handled, can be as flexible as a tenor and he, himself, demonstrates this both in opera and in concert.

Information About County Community Canning Service

With the canning season well under way, the San Rafael-Community Cannery this week issued an information bulletin on its services to county residents:

WHAT COMMUNITY CANNERY IS

The school-community cannery is a cooperative, non-profit venture under the administration of the State Department of Education, Bureau of Agriculture Education and supervised by the State Department of Public Health, Bureau of Cannery Inspection. There are 58 canneries in the State operating under the direct supervision of local school districts. The San Rafael School Community Cannery, located at the San Rafael High School, is the only cannery this side of the bay located in Marin County.

WHO MAY USE THE CANNERY?

The cannery is completely equipped to serve the citizens of Marin County. Anyone desiring to can produce, whether home-grown or purchased by cooperative plan in operation at the cannery, must register through the office of the San Rafael City Superintendent of Schools office and take a two-hour pre-canning instruction class. All details of the canning operation are explained in this class; and, after completion, prospective canners may come in and process their food.

HOW CANNERY OPERATES

This method of canning is not intended to discourage home canning, but is intended to serve those people who do not have adequate home-canning equipment (large kettles for boiling water baths for all fruits, and pressure cookers for meat and vegetables); who feel insecure in their canning methods; who would like to remove all of the mess and confusion of canning from their homes; and who want to know that every can of produce will be safe for consumption, with no loss of precious food from spoilage.

All food is processed in tin cans under modern sanitary canning conditions with a representative of the State Department of Health in constant attendance as instructor and inspector of the cannery. All food is canned according to directions approved by the Bureau of Cannery Inspection and is safe to eat from the cans without any pre-cooking.

There is a 7 cent processing charge for every can. This charge covers the cost of the can and operating expenses of the cannery.

RECORD OF CANNERY TO DATE

From May 26 to June 26 the cannery operated 14 days, served about 75 patrons, and processed over 3,600 cans of asparagus, chicken, cherries and apricots. In 14 pre-canning instruction classes, from April 14 to June 22, 186 family groups have been certified to can. These families represent every community in Marin County.

HOW OFTEN DOES CANNERY OPERATE?

The cannery will operate as often as the requests of registered canners warrant and as long as there is any produce to can.

The cannery is always open to the public for visiting. The dates for the next two weeks are: July 5—7-11 p.m.; July 7—9-1 p.m.; July 10—9-1 p.m.; July 12—7-11 p.m., and July 14—7-11 p.m.

ARE CANNERS ALLOWED GASOLINE?

Arrangements are being made to allow extra gasoline.

Boys Can Now Register for Harvest Work

A boys' harvest camp at Livingston will open August 5, announces the Agricultural Farm Labor office.

Marin City boys, 15 years of age or older, may register between now and the first of August.

The camp, which adjoins peach and grape orchards, is 150 miles from San Francisco and will last until September 10th.

Boys interested in further information should call the farm office at Exbrook 5586. Those who wish to enroll in San Francisco should go to the Recruiting Headquarters for Youth Harvest Camps at 750 Eddy Street.

Sport Flash

The undefeated Marin City Midgets chalked up another win last Wednesday in a grammar school league game with Sausalito. The score was 7 to 1.

The local top league team is matched with Larkspur next Thursday, playing at Larkspur.

Time Yet to Avert Bond Drive Failure

Although the official closing day of the Fifth War Loan drive has passed leaving this area far short of the goal set for buying bonds by individuals, W. W. Crocker, chairman of the Treasury's War Finance Committee for Northern California, stated this week that failure in the drive can still be averted.

"All individual sales of series E, F and G bonds and series C tax notes, reported to the Federal Reserve Bank by July 31, will be credited to Northern California's quota for individuals," stated Crocker, "leaving the state still three weeks to avert impending failure. I appeal now to every man, woman and child in Northern California to rise to the needs of the hour and buy war bonds."

On Saturday last minute appeals for War Bond subscriptions echoed up and down the business section of Sausalito from a sound truck and raised over $6,300. H. A. B. Sneve and Bob Giniff conducted the day's campaign.

Marin county communities listed today as over the top are Angel Island, Belvedere, Bolinas, Hamilton Field, Inverness, Kentfield, Nicasio, Point Reyes Station, San Geronimo Valley, San Quentin, Stinson Beach and Tomales.

Basketball Now Under Way

Basketball and swimming for boys continues at Tam High every Thursday evening at 7 to 9 p.m. Coach Gus Gustafson is in charge.

Marin City has entered two teams in the basketball league which are temporarily known as Teams "A" and "B". Marin City teams will play each other on July 20 at the Dormitory gym.

Games are scheduled in the near future with teams from other cities in the county. At the conclusion of a six weeks tournament, the championship team will be awarded pries.

Day Camp for Kids Gets High Praise

Day camp bus fee has been cut to 40 cents. The Defense Recreation Committee now finds it possible to carry the children both ways by bus at this reduced rate. Many enthusiastic reports have been received from children who have gone. "It is really super," they say.

Advance registration will assure your child of a seat on the bus. Registrations are accepted every Saturday, from 2 to 5 p.m. in the lounge room of the Community Center.

Children may come in person to register, if parents find they are unable to come. Last minute registrations will also be taken at the buses. If seats are available, children may meet the bus on Monday or Thursday morning at 8:45 a.m. in front of Marin City School. They should bring their 40 cent round trip bus fare, a lunch and sweater.

First Shutout Pitched by Lynn Roath

By GLENN BISHOP.

Lynn Roath, ace pitcher of the Marin City Midgets, last week pitched his first shutout, striking out 13 batters in the league game with San Anselmo grammar school team. The final score was: Marin City 9, San Anselmo 0.

The Midgets started off with a bang in the first inning with a homer by Lynn Roath. Pat William also scored in the first inning. Bill Palmer, who played the last two innings, hit a double and scored on it in the sixth.

Marin's Giant Redwoods

Wuir Woods National Monument continues to be one of the currently popular Redwood Empire attractions, particularly for those who are seeking a glimpse of the giant redwoods.

According to the monthly travel report for June, as compiled by Walter Finn, park custodian, total visitors to the redwoods this year have increased 15 per cent over 1943.

Hikers are thronging the area, which lies at the foot of Mt. Tamalpais, as well as members from all branches of the armed services.

Furniture Idea Gets No Support From Women

The possibility of a furniture exchange shop in Marin City was broached for the first time at a meeting of the Volunteers in Community Service last Tuesday.

Proponents of the idea cited cases of heavy initial cost for newcomers and great losses for early leavers from the town.

The idea was snowed under, however, under a barrage of other stories describing the rapidity with which furniture disappears from the homes of those about to leave.

Mrs. Harrison Abbott told of one family which was loading furniture on a van, when the neighbors started swarming over. Within an hour, the householder was cleaned out, the van dismissed, and the head of the family was desperately trying to tear would-be purchasers away from an inner spring mattress he was determined to keep for himself.

Another woman described the case of a family which was planning to put an advertisement of furniture for sale in The Marin Citizen. By the time the ad was ready for the paper the neighbors had bought all the items.

The furniture exchange idea was summed up as a good one, but not necessary here, where everyone is looking for another table, chair or bed.

Managers

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Pierce of B9-665 have taken over the management of a large apartment building in San Rafael.

New Families Welcomed to Marin City

Twenty new families were welcomed to Marin City last week. They are, Mr. and Mrs. James Norris from San Jose, A36-384; Mrs. Virginia Wilherm from Illinois, A37-294; Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Tullos from Kansas City, A37-296; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rogers from Colorado, A60-477.

Others are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Erhardt from Missouri, A51-407; Mr. and Mrs. Clare Pendergast from Minnesota, B11-689; Mrs. Elizabeth Larson from Minnesota, B1-532; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White from Texas, B8-656.

More newcomers include Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smithers from Texas, B5-601; Mrs. Stella Christian from Texas, B9-699; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hopkins from Los Angeles, B8-652; Mr. and Mrs. Clay Murray from Louisiana, B6-622; Mr. and Mrs. William Malone from Willows, B10-683; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McIntosh from Texas, A65-516.

House newcomers include Mr. and Mrs. D. Battle from Louisiana, 715; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Brown from Minnesota, 482; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cummons from San Diego, 540; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Woodlock from Missouri, 477; Mr. and Mrs. R. Carlson from Mill Valley, 772; Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Dayley from Idaho, 344; Mr. and Mrs. William Curr from San Francisco, 441.

Thank You!

We sincerely want to thank you, the traveling public, for your understanding and cooperation during the time we were unable to accomodate all the war workers and commuters who depend on us to get them to and from their jobs.

Also, we extend our thanks to those who so generously shared cars to help carry stranded war workers. This unselfish cooperation helped greatly in preventing more serious interruption of vital war plant operation.

We regret that any passenger on a Greyhound bus ever has to stand. The additional buses that Pacific Greyhound Lines will receive between now and the end of the year, should soon be providing additional seats and will help the situation.

Fortunately, today's transportation conditions are only temporary. Greyhound is looking ahead to victory, and planning to provide a finer highway transportation service than ever before.

THE STANDEE PROBLEM HAS BEEN SETTLED!
Today Greyhound's service is again available for the accommodation of our passengers as before.

WLB Directive Ends Deadlock Between Drivers and Carrier

Commuters throughout Marin, who for the past weeks have been delayed in reaching their work, both within the county and in San Francisco, were on time Wednesday mornng when Greyhound bus drivers, at the order of the National Labor Board, accepted standee passengers.

Directive from the WLB came after the case of the Amalgamated Motor Coach Employees Union's dispute with Greyhound had been referred for federal review on the grounds that no arbitration or settlement of the questions involved could be made until the present "standee strike" had been halted.

Action on the part of 150 bus drivers, who voted to resume their driving of standees on Greyhound lines, came after telegrams had been received from WLB Chairman Davis asking that the drivers resume activity as of their routine work on June 22, the starting date of the refusal to carry standee passengers.

Included in the telegram was the statement that Greyhound would comply with the move and would reinstate all drivers who had been removed from duty as the result of the action which had been ordered by the Union just as negotiations were begun upon a renewed contract.

During the three-week period residents of Marin, who are dependent upon busses for public transportation, thumbing rides throughout the county and in many cases stood for two and three hours at stopping points along the routes waiting for partially filled busses. Only certain transportation was from loading points.

Chief argument facing the strike was the large number of shipyard workers, who were without transportation to their essential work.

Sermon Topics Announced for July Sundays

The Interdenominational Community Church, meeting each Sunday at 11 a.m. in the Marin City Community Center, announces the following sermon topics for the remaining Sundays in July:

July 16, "Eternal Moments and Daily Living."

July 23, "Great Scenes in the Drama of Life."

July 23, "The Place of Emotion in an Age of Reason."

The Community Sunday School meets at 10 a.m., with classes for adults and children of all ages.

These services are sponsored by the California Council of Churches.

Frank Clapham is New Manager at Marin City Store

Frank Clapham is the new manager of the Marin City Market. Clapham has been with the market since its opening and is well known by residents here.

New operators of the market are Nichols and Beck, who took over after the lease was relinquished by Louis Fererra.

"Curly" Krieger, former manager at the market, left last week to take up duties as manager of the Food Mart in San Rafael.

Five young people from Marin City are spending six weeks at Guy's Cliffe, summer camp at Inverness.

They are Elizabeth Roberts, Paul Smith, Richard and Arthur Walenta.

Shipbuilding Tax Inquiry Set for 24th

On July 24 when the Board of Supervisors again resumes their discussion of taxation as a Board of Equalization the matter of an adjustment of the Sausalito Shipbuilding Corp. Inc.'s taxes will be one of the chief points of consideration, following the appearance of heads of the organization before the Board last Monday to voice their second protest.

Protesting the present situation, which they claim to be entirely out of line when compared with the taxes of adjoining property owners, Robert Rich, asked that the Board immediately take action. Joining in the discussion of the problem were Seibert Sefton, of Sausalito, and County Assessor George Hall, to whom the matter was referred for further consideration.

All recommendations of the Planning Commission, with the exception of the petition of Mrs. Gerard Ellenberg, were passed by the Board. The Ellenberg request for rezoning, which had been denied by the Commission, was referred to the next meeting.

Also deferred until a later date in the budget planning was the request of Mrs. Berrien Anderson, Marin Music Chest president, for the allocation of $1,000 from the county instead of the usual $500.

Polio Again Of Interest For Summer

By DR. IRVING JOHNSON, Marin Health Officer

About this time of year, many calls start to come into the Health Department office asking how many cases there are of infantile paralysis, and what families should do to prevent it. This column, therefore, attempts to answer some of the questions on this disease.

This disease is characterized either by a slow or rapid onset after an incubation period of 7 to 14 days in which the patient has either a cold and fever or may have a gastric upset including vomiting and diarrhea. Headache and especially tenderness of bent back neck muscles may be present. The temperature is elevated but not high (102-103 degrees) and the pulse is usually rapid. There is usually generalized sickness, the patient is not hungry but restless, irritable at times, sleeping at others. The safest procedure is to put the child to bed until the physician makes the diagnosis.

Marin County can have about five cases, which would not be above "normal" incidence of the disease. Last year there were a total of 26 cases reported. When a community has an epidemic, it is usually spared the next year. The disease is more closely associated with rural than metropolitan residents. The case fatality rate in California has been about 9 per cent of last year's cases; in colder climates, the rate is variously increased up to 20 per cent of all cases in other localities.

CAUSE KNOWN

The cause of poliomyelitis is known. The exact method of transmission of the disease is not known. The causative organism is a virus found in the respiratory tract and stools of both cases and well individuals.

It is estimated that for every known case there are 10 to 1,000 well cases which harbor the virus. There is much similarity in the spread of outbreaks to that of measles, as in person to person spread, though not an exact counterpart. We admit the mode of transmission is not known. Of course, regardless of the presence or absence of an infantile paralysis outbreak, it is common sense procedure to avoid swimming in polluted water and to keep flies from food.

SIMPLE MEASURES

Observe these simple precautions:

(a) Avoid overtiring and extreme fatigue from strenuous exercise.

(b) Avoid sudden chilling such as would come from a plunge into extremely cold water on a very hot day.

(c) Pay careful attention to personal cleanliness, such as thorough hand washing before eating. Hygienic habits should always be observed.

(d) If possible avoid tonsil and adenoid operations during epidemics. Careful study has shown that such operations, when done during an epidemic, tend to increase the danger of contracting infantile paralysis in its most serious form.

(e) Use the purest milk and water you can. Keep flies away from food. While the exact means of spread of the disease is not known, contaminated water and milk are always dangerous and flies have repeatedly been shown to carry the infantile paralysis virus.

(f) Do not swim in polluted water.

(g) Maintain community sanitation at a high level at all times.

(h) Avoid all unnecessary contact with persons with any illness suspicious of infantile paralysis.

Write to Marin County Health Department for bulletin on this subject.

The Red Cross swimming and life saving campaign begins this Monday at 9 a.m. at the Tamalpais High School pool.

Those who have not yet registered for the swimming classes may get the registration card from Mrs. W. C. Billingsley at A15, Apt. 116.

The parents' consent is required for all minors.

Entrants in the life saving campaign, which is held there from July 17 to 29 from 3 to 5 p.m., need not enroll prior to opening date. Advanced swimmers are asked to appear 10 minutes before class beginning.

Rest Rooms Locked Up

The public rest rooms at the shopping center here were locked up this week and will remain locked, according to representatives of the housing authority.

Reason given for the ban on this public facility was abuse of the rooms.

A possibility of making complete renovation and issuing keys to the surrounding merchants who would lend them out to residents, was suggested by the authority.

County's Political Battle Begins

Roosevelt's Stand Spurs Democrats On

At the final meeting of the retiring Marin Democratic Central Committee last year a telegram was sent to President Roosevelt requesting that he declare himself as candidate for a fourth term. This wire was answered Tuesday, the meeting date for organization of the new Central Committee, by the President's announcement of candidacy.

Sheperd Porter, well known throughout Marin, was selected to serve as chairman, returning to the post which he took over last year following the resignation of Walter Derr, of Mill Valley. James San Jule has taken over the post of secretary; Marian Kent, vice chairman, and Ed Culver will again serve as treasurer.

The nineteen committee members present authorized the chartering of Roosevelt Clubs and laid plans for precinct work. In addition, the by-laws committee was appointed with Dr. A. A. Campbell, chairman, and Thomas Keating and Samuel Gardiner, members.

Blood Donors Featuring Map Of 'Plasma' Front

Through the courtesy of Paul Verdier of San Francisco, an enlarged reproduction of a rare map of France, the largest authentic map of the invasion in Marin, is on display in the Red Cross Blood Donor Service office window, 1313 4th St., San Rafael. This map, complete in every detail, with the invasion coast sharply outlined, originally belonged to a collection of maps of the countries of Europe, beautifully bound, and came to this country directly from France.

Miss Evelyn Sharp has volunteered to keep the public visibly informed of the progress of the invasion forces. The map will remain in the window until the armies march into Paris.

More blood donors are needed in order to maintain a steady supply of plasma to this fighting front. Blood donor office is open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., including Saturday. Call San Rafael 4460 for an appointment. Next visit of the Mobile Unit to the San Rafael Center will be July 21-22. Donors are needed for these dates.

Republicans Select New Marin Head

Organization of the Republican Central Committee of Marin took place Tuesday night at the Court House with Bruce Johnstone, of Inverness, elected to temporary chairmanship. Johnstone, in his acceptance speech, stressed the need for precinct organization down to each block and this aim was approved by the 16 assembled committeemen.

Charles T. Lund was elected to the position of vice chairman with Mrs. Edna D. Foster, Pro-America president, selected as women's vice chairman, an office newly formed for this year's committee. Harry Ballou took his place as treasurer and Benson Wright will continue in the position of secretary.

The executive committee of the Republican organization will consist of the five officers plus one member at large. Appointment of George G. Whitely as the additional executive was made late yesterday by Chairman Johnstone.

Women Voters Hold Meet to Change Laws

The League of Women Voters of Marin county met yesterday afternoon at the Sausalito Service Men's Club, Mrs. Carl Spring, president of the Sausalito group, presiding.

A general discussion was held on possible changes in the league's national by-laws. The county group will recommend that no changes be made in the structure of the league as it now exists.

Mrs. Ray Schultz, of Mill Valley, outlined the aims of the Women Voters, stressing the promotion of education of the citizen for active participation in his government in view of the coming elections. Her summary ended with repetition of the cardinal principle of the group that "it shall not ally itself with or support any political party."

Fourth of July Celebrated by Returning Boys

When Mrs. W. C. Billingsley received a phone call from her nephew in the Marine Air Corps on the evening of the Fourth of July, she and her husband wasted no time rushing to Treasure Island to meet him.

He is DeCosta C. Leonard, staff sergeant, who has just returned from 18 months of active service in the South Pacific.

Sgt. Leonard was waiting at the gate for the Billingsleys with a friend, Technical Sgt. Lloyd Dosier of Dallas, Texas.

The boys left Wednesday for San Diego where they will be given a 30-day furlough, they hope.

Sgt. Leonard plans to spend his leave in his home town, Oxford, Carolina. He is also planning his wedding during the furlough time.

The boys expect to get a couple of medals for citations, which at present show only on their records.

They expect to be back in their southern "fox holes" soon after leave is up.

The one evening visit was the first time Mrs. Billingsley had seen her nephew for eight years.

Tennis Invite Extended to Marin County

To stimulate a revival of tennis activity, the Mill Valley Tennis Club announces that it will hold a draw doubles tournament, starting Saturday and Sunday, July 22 and July 23. Entries are not restricted to club members but will be open to anyone in Marin County. Partners will be drawn in such a way that, as far as the tournament committee can determine, all will have a chance regardless of tennis ability.

It is felt that there are many who have played tennis but have given it up during the past few years, who would welcome an opportunity to play again. This tournament is designed particularly for the player who is out of practice, or of limited ability. Entries are open to men, women and junior players. A nominal fee will be charged to provide trophies. The balls will be supplied by the players. Entries should be filed with Stewart A. Bostwick, phone M. V. 239 before 6 p.m., Thursday, July 20.

Additional tournaments are planned during the summer and autumn, but this event will be the best chance for the former player to try out the game again and find out if it is as enjoyable as formerly.

"To do everything in our power to help win the war. To promote the welfare and community spirit of Marin City."

JAMES SAN JULE, Editor.
DOROTHY SMITH, City Editor.
JESS DRAPER, Advertising Manager.

"The Marin Citizen" is delivered each week to the homes of more than 6000 war workers and their families. It is the only newspaper published in the second largest city of Marin County.
Subscription Rate: $2.50 a year. Advertising rates on application

One Year Old!

We are a year old today!

When The Citizen started a front page editorial declared "The editorial policy of The Marin Citizen will be: To do everything in our power to help win the war. To promote the welfare and community spirit of Marin City."

Most people who have lived here during the past year will heartily agree that that declared policy has been lived up to by The Citizen.

It is a responsibility to publish a newspaper in a community composed of war workers. That newspaper must be part and parcel of the war effort. It must keep everlastingly at the main object—that of winning the war.

It is perhaps of some significance that today is Bastile Day, the day the French people celebrate as we celebrate our Fourth of July.

Bastile Day of 1943 was a black day in the history of France. Her patriots were being murdered by the Nazi invader and by the Vichy traitors. Her great name was brought low.

Bastile Day of 1944 is a great day in the history of France, for the liberation armies of the United Nations are on French soil and are driving the invader back. Freedom is in sight!

We here in Marin City have had a part in the making of the great military victories of the past year. Our ships have transported many of the cargoes which have made those victories possible.

Our responsibility is still great, for the final victory is not yet won. We must continue to stay at our posts—just as the men of our armed forces must continue to drive ahead so that victory will be sure.

Another year will see us through. That may seem like a long time, but a year between now and victory is a lot shorter than the years of oppression and slavery under an Axis world would be.

The staff of the Citizen has been proud to work on a paper which has been so close to the war effort. We will be even prouder during the second year of the paper's existence because we know that every day brings victory closer.

Thanks for all your birthday greetings! We know you really mean them and it makes us feel very good!

"Hello, Son . . . I Knew Your Father" - By COLLIER

Frederick Thompson:

Appeasement of Franco A Post-War Problem Now

It is a generally accepted fact that every important political act in which Sir Samuel Hoare, Great Britain's Ambassador to Franco's Spain, has played any important role during his long history in British politics, has been characterized by ultra-conservatism almost amounting to a Tory type of Facism. He was the co-author of the famous —or infamous — Hoare - Laval treaty which gave Mussolini the green light in Africa and helped him to keep his hold on the Italian people. He does not seem ever to have had a democratic attitude toward, or approach to, any public qustion that was intrusted to his care.

His support of Franco has had much to do with holding Franco on a very shaky seat, and without that support Franco would probably have been thrown out by this time.

AMERICAN SUPPORT

And the worst of it is, he seems to have engaged the support of the American Ambassador, Carlton J. H. Hayes, although from what we know of Hayes, it probably did not require a great deal of argument to bring him arouhd.

Hayes, it will be remembered, is the representative of the democratic United States of America, who, after hearing Franco publicly announce that if he had to choose between facism and democracy, he would choose facism. A few weeks later, in a public address, Hayes said, "Franco is a good man."

CHURCHILL BACKS

Recently Sir Samuel found it expedient to return to London for a consultation with his Government, and after talks with Prime Minister Churchill, in which he undoubtedly made strong representations favorable to Franco, the Prime Minister stated to Parliament that he resented the attitude of a majority of the British press as expressed in articles and cartoons that tended to make Franco appear ridiculous. In passing it must be said that this admonition by the Prime Minister was followed immediately by more articles and cartoons that expressed very clearly that public opinion in Great Britain is strongly anti-Franco.

But Sir Samuel at least could go back to Franco and point out that he, Franco, has the official seal of approval from the Prime Minister and that official England was his friend. And that means a lot to Franco at this particular juncture of world affairs, especially when he is a little lonely for his friend Mussolini and is beginning to doubt how much use his friend Adolph will to him in the future.

But the Prime Minister did not rest after his statement to Parliament. He went further. He evidently felt that the matter was of sufficient importance to call for an endorsement not only of Franco, but of Franco's emissary, too. And so after conversations with his Gracious Majesty it seems to have been considered worth while to build Sir Samual up as well and thus strengthen his diplomatic position vis-a-vis Franco. And so King George raised Sir Samuel to the peerage.

Now all this is in the face of the fact that for months both Great Britain and the United States have been said to have been working on Franco to curtail shipments to Hitler of the invaluable wolframite that is mined in northern Spain. And it was a very reluctant Franco who finally promised to comply with our requests. He took his time and probably only decided in our favor when Hitler's doom appeared to be well on the road to being sealed.

THE SOAP BOX

By the Editor

It hardly seems possible that it was a year ago when those of us who were interested in starting a community newspaper got together with high hopes to actually get out the first issue.

This week we were looking back through the 52 issues of The Citizen which have been delivered to the doors of every Marin City resident for the past 52 weeks. We were a little surprised at the bulk of all 52 issues put together. They totaled 544 pages (more than the thickness of a good sized book). They looked impressive.

What struck us most, however, were the many different campaigns carried on by The Citizen for the good of the people who live in Marin City and the accomplishments of The Citizen in the way of community betterment.

Some of these campaigns and accomplishments have been forgotten. Only one or two of the major campaigns are remembered. But all of the campaigns put together have resulted in a better city. It impressed us to see just how representative a paper we have.

CAMPAIGNS

The Citizen has secured workers for civilian defense; has made it safer to ride along the roads of the north hill by getting the culverts protected (tank traps, we called them); has campaigned for road repairs, and secured them; has brought the child care program here to the attention of every mother; has carried on a program of voters' education so that every resident would register and vote; has secured blood donors for the Red Cross; carried on a campaign against the hazardous pedestrain crossing from the bus across the main highway—and finally saw a new bus station erected where there was no road crossing; has aided in keeping the Marin City Medical Center available for the protection of all of the people here; secured a change in the community's police force when members of the force were exceeding their authority; has helped with War Bond drives; helped organize a war housing tenants conference for the entire bay area; aided in the building of a drainage system for the apartment area; publicized the work of the Marin City Council so that all residents might know of its benefits; helped bring teachers closer to parents.

The paper put on a party which brought in several hundred dollars for war relief; helped combat racial prejudice; aided in a program by which more than 2,000 residents were X-rayed for tuberculosis; helped get busses for the community; secured the conviction and eviction from Marin City of a market operator who was bilking people by OPA price violations

This is only a partial list of the things done by The Citizen during the past year. They are enough, however, to indicate what the paper has meant to the community. The Citizen has been the voice of the people. It is owned and operated by the Marin City Council, which is in turn elected by the residents. That is one reason it is different from most other newspapers. That is why it has been a fearless, campaigning paper since its start. That is why it will continue to be that kind of a paper.

The staff of The Citizen has always been pleased with the heartfelt support given the paper by those who live here. We know that this support will grow as The Citizen goes into the second year of its short life.

We hope to see all of you at the birthday party on Sunday.
